$50 Reward.

RUNAWAY on the 8th inst. a little yellow fellow, called HARRY, 23 years of age, very low and well built; weighing from 115 to 130 lbs. left handed, very flat feet, his hair lately cut short, inclined to be straight; he is very polite, artful and cunning, being raised a house servant, though for the last two years worked in the crop. His clothes are such as field hands work in, probably a grey round Jacket of coarse cloth, one of white yarn, and one of yellow cotton, though he may have exchanged them for finer clothes; he took off a new three point blanket.

He will no doubt endeavor to pass as a free man, and in travelling keep the most public road, as he did about two years ago on a trip to Wilmington, when he called himself Martin Fog.

I will give the above reward to any one that will deliver him to John Kiteral, who lives on my plantation 7 miles south of this place, provided he is taken without the limits of this state; and $20 if taken, secured &c. within its limits.

Map of North Carolina.

THIS desirable Work, which has been unavoidably delayed, is now progressing, and will probably be completed in the course of the ensuing winter. Those gentlemen who have been kind enough to undertake the collection of the Maps of their respective counties, and who have not yet found it convenient to do so, are respectfully solicited to give the matter a moment of their attention as soon as may be convenient.

From the specimens of correctness which those Maps that have been received in most instances afford, the public may be assured that a more correct Map of the State will be obtained by the means pursued than by any other that could have been adopted. In many instances entire Maps of the different counties have been made out with great labour, and no doubt with as much accuracy.

To those gentlemen from whom the corrected Maps have been received, the subscriber begs leave to return his grateful acknowledgments.

Fayetteville, Oct. 4, 1825—35-ts

Despise not the meanest of mankind: a wasp may sting a giant.

Emigration from Norway.—The following statement depicts a spirit of enterprise which has not often been surpassed. It is gratifying to perceive that the magnetic influence of our extended territory and free institutions is felt even amongst the coldness of the Scandinavian region:

A Novel Sight.—A vessel arrived at this port with emigrants from Norway. The vessel is very small, measuring as we understand, only about 360 Norwegian lasts, or forty-five American tons, and brought forty-six passengers, male and female, all bound to Ontario county, where an agent, who came over some time since, purchased a tract of land. The appearance of such a party of strangers, coming from so distant a country, and in a vessel of a size apparently ill calculated for a voyage across the Atlantic, could not but excite an unusual degree of interest. They have had a voyage of fourteen weeks; and are in good health and spirits.

An enterprise like this argues a good deal of boldness in the master of the vessel, as well as an adventurous spirit in the passengers, most of whom belong to families from the vicinity of a little town at the south-western extremity of Norway, near Cape Stavenger. Those who came from the farms are dressed in coarse cloths of domestic manufacture, of a fashion different from the American; but those who inhabited the town wear calicoes, ginghams and gay shawls, imported, we presume, from England. The vessel is built on the model common to fishing boats on that coast, with a single mast and topsail, sloop-rigged. She passed through the English Channel, and as far south as Madeira, where she stopped three or four days, and steered directly for New York, where she arrived, with the addition of one passenger, born on the way.

It is the captain's intention to remain in this country, to sell his vessel, and prepare himself to navigate our waters, by entering the American merchant service, to learn the language.—N. Y. Daily Adv.

Private Conversation.—You need not tell the truth, unless to those who have a right to know it all. But let all you tell be truth.—Insult not another for want of a talent you possess; he may have others which you want.—Praise your friends, and let your friends praise you. If you give a jest, take one; but jesting sometimes ends in sad earnest. Learning without prudence is pedantry. Nothing is more unmannerly than to reflect on any man's profession, sect, or natural infirmity. He who stirs up against himself another's self-love, provokes the strongest passion in human nature.—Never fish for praise; it is not worth the bait. Make your company a rarity, and people will value it. Men despise what they can easily have. The beauty of behaviour consists in the manner, more than the matter of your discourse. Men of many words are generally men of many puffs.—To reprove with success, the following circumstances are necessary, viz. Mildness, secresy, intimacy, and the esteem of the person you would reprove.

Words.—Dr. Johnson's Dictionary contains the following; but they are by no means the whole in the English language: Articles 3; nouns, substantives 29,410; adjectives 9,053; pronouns 41; verbs 7,880; participal 88; participles, adjectives 125; do. nouns 3; adverbs 496; do. in ly, 2,096; prepositions 69; conjunctions 11; interjections 68—total 40,301.

The way to Rise.—There are three things, according to the old maxim, necessary to success in life. "Impudence, impudence, impudence." An imposing look is a passport into the temple of fame, and a "brazen face" is of more value than a laced coat. If you would rise superior to your present condition, you must push yourself out of it. Lion-hearted assurance has always gone before sheep-faced modesty.—Boston Galaxy.

Legal presumption.—Baldus, a very eminent lawyer of the 14th century, and Menochius, who wrote on legal presumption, in the 16th century, both lay it down as clear law, that if it be proved that a man's head has been cut off, a violent presumption will follow from thence that the man is dead.

FROM THE NATIONAL JOURNAL.

On the Race run on the New York Course, on the 3d inst. by Mr. Lynch's Filly Ariel against Dr. Wyche's Colt Lafayette.

What wonder that Ariel should beat Lafayette?
'Tis clear, without reasoning, or rhyming, or punning,
That, whether by foes or by rivals beset,
Lafayette, young or old, ne'er was given to running.

TO BUFO.

If it be true, on Watts' plan,
That mind's the standard of the man;
Though, Bufo, you are six feet three,
Why, what a pigmy you must be?

I laugh, a would-be sapient cried,
At every one that laughs at me:
Good Lord! a sneering friend replied,
How very merry you must be.

THE PROPRIETORS.

Fayetteville, October 1, 1825—35-6t

FOREIGN.

FROM EUROPE.

We last week noticed the arrival of the packet ship Canada; we make the following selections of news from the New York papers.

The house of J. O. Johnson, connected with the Charleston trade, had suspended payment.

London and Portsmouth Ship Canal.—The Portsmouth paper, of the 27th Aug. says—"This grand national undertaking is now decided on. The estimated expense is 4,000,000*l.* to be subscribed for in shares of 100*l.* each. It is intended to be navigable for line of battle ships; and the largest Indiamen, by the aid of steam vessels, will be able to perform a passage from London to Spithead in about twelve hours. By the prospectus it appears that the line will pass by part of the present barge canal, and a new entrance behind Southsea Castle is to be opened to Spithead. The mouths of Chichester bay and Dangston harbor are intended to be closed, and by deepening the latter, a basin will be formed for vessels to ride in safety. It is said that the East India Company have taken 5000 shares, and that his Majesty's government has acknowledged the utility and importance of the plan.

Spain.—The intelligence from Spain grows more important. From the accounts published in the London Courier, of the 29th, and from private advices, the editor says "it is evident that the state of Spain is rapidly hastening to a crisis. According to some accounts, it has been found necessary to strengthen the garrison of St. Ildefonso, by marching thither a battalion of one of the Swiss regiments. The occasion of this reinforcement was said to be the discovery of a plot to assassinate the Minister M. Zea. It is added, that an extraordinary Council of State was summoned for the 16th, when "many pressing and important affairs would be discussed."

"Among other events that have occurred is the circumstance of General Bessieres having quitted Madrid on the 16th, and placed himself at the head of some armed partizans, to deliver the king from the captivity in which he is represented to be held by his Ministers. A severe Proclamation, or Royal Decree, has been issued by Ferdinand in consequence of this, dated St. Ildefonso, August 17th, in which, without naming any individuals, summary punishment is ordered to be inflicted on the "rebels" who shall not surrender at discretion. At Seville, meanwhile, numerous persons have been arrested. According to letters from Cadiz, these arrests were in consequence of an extensive conspiracy which had been discovered, similar to that which took place in Portugal last year. In Cadiz also, at the date of the last letter, it was hourly expected that arrests would take place. Among the persons apprehended at Seville, were many of the higher orders of the clergy.

"The Quotidienne of August 27, and Galignani's Messenger of the same day, confirm the intelligence that had been received from Spain. At present, however, the whole is involved in mystery, nor can we determine, from the accounts that are transmitted, what are the precise objects of the insurrectionary movements that have taken place. We observe, indeed, that the abdication of the King is freely mentioned in all of them; but this step, whether forced or voluntarily, would do nothing for the tranquility of Spain, if the Infant Don Carlos is to be his successor."

"Since writing the above, we have received the Paris papers of Sunday by express.—They contain further accounts from Spain of such a nature as would seem to justify the expectation of a very serious revolt."

Cadiz, Aug. 2.—The letters which we received to-day from Seville, dated the 7th inst. bring the following details.

A great fermentation prevails in all the towns of Upper Andalusia, but particularly at Cordona, Carmona, Ecija, and Seville.—In the first of these cities, numerous arrests took place on the night of 5th, all of persons distinguished by their rank or their riches.—It should seem, however, that their arrests are founded on motives of great importance, for on the 5th they began at Seville, and have been continued every night. Among the persons arrested, who already amount to one hundred and eighty-nine, are the Marchioness de Tabares, and her whole family, the Prior of the Consulate of commerce, Andueza, the rich merchants Bayo and Gongora.

New York, Oct. 17.

The fast sailing ship American, Captain Moran, arrived yesterday morning from Liverpool, having left that port on Sunday the 11th ultimo, and has brought advices eleven days later than before received.

We are indebted to Captain Moran for Liverpool papers to the 10th and London papers to the evening of the 9th.

Cotton had fallen again, and was now quoted as low as 6½ a 6¾. The last letter, however, expresses a belief that the worst of the evils of the late speculations were over, and that a better state of business may now be expected.

The news from Greece is favorable to the patriots. The Seraskier, Redschid Pacha, has been repulsed in three assaults upon Missolonghi; his loss was estimated at 3,000 killed, wounded and prisoners. It appears as if an engagement had taken place between the Turkish fleet under the Captain Pacha, and the Greek fleet under Miaulis, but the result had not been ascertained. Sachturis, with 28 vessels, and 10 fire-ships under Canaris, had sailed with the intention of burning the Egyptian fleet in the harbor of Alexandria.

Trieste, Aug. 24.—The Piranga frigate, lately commanded by Lord Cochrane, was ready for sea at Portsmouth, with a fresh crew, under command of Captain Crosby.

The expedition for Greece, under Lord Cochrane, was expected to depart in about 2 months. Two large steam boats were preparing for that purpose.

A report had reached London, that the Burmese war had ended in the total subjugation of the empire, and capture of its monarch. These accounts were received by a French brig arrived at Bordeaux, which left Sincapore about the middle of April.

Spain.—We might easily fill our columns with articles respecting the internal troubles of Spain. Gen. Bessieres, with his companions, has been arrested and executed. Bessieres was a Royalist General, and assisted in putting down the Cortez. The brave Empecenado, a chief of the opposite party, and who had lain some time in prison, has also, by command of the King, been executed. Some unfortunate Freemasons, against whom a severe decree had recently been issued by the King, had been taken, and were ordered for execution within three days.

London, Sept. 9—The gradual improvement that has taken place in the Exchanges, has done much towards relieving the Money Market, and the favorable impression that this circumstance has created in the city, has greatly dissipated the clouds that hung over it.

Liverpool, Sept. 10.

"The Cotton Market at the commencement of the week continued in the same dull state as noticed in our last; but about 4000 bags being declared for auction, created some alarm, and some forced sales were made, (chiefly to speculators) at a decline of ½ to ¾ per pound. Holders afterwards became more firm, and the auction sales being well attended by the trade yesterday, went off briskly at an advance of ¼d on the business previously done. The sales of the week amount to 14,635 packages, of which 3000 were on speculation, and 2400 for export. The sales of American Cotton consist of 4099 bales Uplands, at 6¾ to 11d; 2539 Orleans, 7 to 12d; 437 Tennessees and Alabamas; 60 Sea islands, 17 to 22—and by auction, 2613 bales uplands, 6¼ to 9¾; 727 Alabamas, 6¾ to 8¼; 575 Orleans, 8 a 9 3-4.

"Tobacco remains without alteration, but no sales have been effected."

Spain.—It is impossible, we should think, that, in these days, and in Europe, a government can long exist, by which, under political pretences, such acts of barbarous murder are perpetrated as that which is disclosed in the following decree and its consequences. What revolting blasphemy against a merciful Deity, to associate with religious motives such unequalled cruelty!

The following Decree was issued by the King of Spain, and published in the Madrid Gazette about the time of its date:

"Royal decree, ordering the Freemasons taken in flagrante, to be punished within the 3d day, conformably to the laws.

A lodge of Freemasons having been seized in the city of Grenada, through the activity and zeal of the police, in the act of holding their dark meeting, clothed in their ridiculous garments, and surrounded by the instruments and emblems used by this reprobate sect, the enemy of the altar and of the throne; and it being proper to punish, in an exemplary manner, and in conformity to the laws and my Royal decrees, so shameless an audacity on the part of these criminals, which has scandalised my faithful and religious subjects, I have thought fit to decree as follows:

Art. 1st. All the persons seized in the flagrant act aforesaid, in the Freemasons' Lodge of Grenada, shall, within the peremptory term of three days after the publication of this my Royal Decree, in the said city, undergo the punishments imposed by the laws of these my kingdoms, and more particularly by my Decree of the 1st Aug. 1824, (death.)

2d. All who may be hereafter apprehended, in whatsoever part of the kingdom it may be, in the same manner as those of Grenada have been, shall be tried and punished in the same peremptory term of three days, &c.

[Signed by the King.]

San Ildefonso, Aug. 21, 1825."

This decree was put into immediate effect, and seven unfortunate beings engaged in holding a Lodge, were discovered and instantly executed.

A late number of the London Morning Chronicle mentions that, at a meeting held at Sir Francis Burdett's, a sum of £300,000 was agreed to be instantly placed at the disposal of Lord Cochrane, for the succor of the Greeks. He is to provide two steam vessels, and, if possible, purchase from Sweden two ships of the line, and that 3,500 men shall be placed under the command of Sir Robert Wilson. It is added, that the Brazilian frigate Peranga was nearly ready for sea, and that in her Lord Cochrane was to sail for Greece.

The Congress at Panama.—Information has been received, by the editor of the Baltimore Gazette, that Dr. GUAL, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in the Republic of Colombia, was to set out from Bogota on the 10th instant for Carthagena, on his way to the Congress of Panama, in which the new states of America are to be represented. From Lima, also, information has been received at the office of the Baltimore American, that the two Representatives from the Republic of Peru, to the Congress at Panama, sailed from Chorillos on the 5th of June for their destination. The result of the deliberations of this Congress of Sovereign States may be of great importance to their prosperity, and cannot but be looked to with great interest by the statesmen of our own country.—*Nat. The effect of the result of the tremendous speculations in Cotton during the last summer, has been very sensibly felt in the Southern cities, as well as among the importing merchants and the discounters and endorsors in the great shipping port of New York. It is believed, however, that more alarm has been manifested than there was just cause for. The actual [illegible] which the city of New York alone would sustain from this cause has been computed at five millions of dollars. She will doubtless experience considerable loss, but this amount must be greatly exaggerated. The Savannah Georgian says that the reports in circulation of the losses in that city by European failures, reacting there, greatly exceed the real loss. The same paper very justly deprecates the levity with which mercantile credit is sometimes sported with, by the expression of vague surmises, and the insinuation of suspicions, which, however unfounded, have all the effect of ascertained fact, by producing the very state of things they effect to deprecate. The same paper generously and wisely inculcates in this emergency mutual forbearance among mercantile men, and liberality on the part of the Banks towards their debtors.

Whatever may have been the predicted extent of the evil above referred to, the reality is by this time ascertained. The period of suspense has passed. The bolt has fallen, and its effects are known in the sphere in which they are felt. It cannot be doubted that many individuals will have suffered, from their own imprudence, or the knavery of European consignees. The commercial community, generally, however, will have suffered little, except by a temporary want of confidence in one another, generated by the failures which have taken place. This the merchants themselves have it partly in their power to remedy, and we are sure the Bank of the United States will see its interest in co-operating, by means of its Branches, with the local Banks, to restore business to its wonted course and current.—Nat. Int.

The following account of a remarkable incident, which lately took place at the Jardin des Plantes, in which a menagerie of wild animals is kept, is copied from a late Paris paper:

"A man had introduced himself into the interior of the menagerie. The keeper perceiving him, ran towards him, to make him go out; but, at the same time, the lion Atlas, whose cage was not well closed, raised the gate adroitly, and left his cage.—The keeper cried immediately to the imprudent man, 'place yourself against the wall, and keep still, or you are lost!' It is well known that it is necessary to show firmness and courage before the king of animals. The man obeyed; the keeper followed his example. The lion walked forward, and approached first the keeper, but he recollected the friend who brought him his food, caressed him in an affectionate manner, and passed on to the stranger. Arrived before him, the eyes of the animal sparkled, he raised his enormous paws, and placed them on the man's shoulders.—For some moments, the lion remained in that position; he scrupulously examined the man, who already thought himself his victim, smelt of him from head to foot, and afterwards returned mechanically to his cage. The gate was immediately shut.—But the stranger has not yet recovered from his fright—his life is despaired of."

Spontaneous Combustion.—An instance of spontaneous combustion occurred at the Woollen Factory, in Cummington, belonging to Darius Ford & Co. on the 14th ult. On the 13th, the waste from under the carding machines was gathered into a basket and set out of doors on the south side of the factory; and in the course of the day it was thrown on the ground and a light shower fell upon it. On the 14th, about one o'clock, a smoke began to arise from the waste, and in about two hours afterwards it burst out into a flame, and was consumed, in presence of a great number of spectators.

The vineyards in the county of York in the state of Pennsylvania, cover one hundred and fifty acres of land. There are other vineyards in Cumberland county, and there is one in Montgomery county; but the last mentioned, having been managed by a company, does not flourish like the others.

Bank of Ireland.—The Bank of Ireland, in Dublin, covers more than an acre and a half of ground. It is built of Portland stone, and is a much superior edifice to the Bank of England in London. It has a grand portico, on College Green, of 147 feet, with columns of the Ionic order. The doors, desks, and offices, are of mahogany throughout the bank, and very neatly executed. The building is supplied with reservoirs of water, fire engines, &c. It contains an armory, with a large stand of arms, and the officers and clerks form a corps of yeomanry, ready to repel any invasion upon this grand depository of Irish wealth.

The notes of this institution are printed within the bank. A steam engine, of eight horse power, is employed in the process. These notes are all numbered by machinery, and with a precision and rapidity that could not be well attained by mere manual dexterity: it is effected by boys.—The border round the notes is also executed by machinery, and their whole appearance is highly neat and finished.

Female Education.—A young girl was presented to James I. as an English prodigy, because she was deeply learned. The person who introduced her, boasted of her proficiency in ancient languages. 'I can assure your majesty,' said he, 'that she can both speak and write Latin, Greek, and Hebrew.'—'These are rare attainments for a damsel,' said James; 'but pray tell me, can she spin?'

The Bridgeton (N. J.) Whig of the 8th inst. after repeating the charge of an attempt made by a lobby agent, to bribe a member of the New-Jersey Legislature, which we extracted in a former paper, makes a new accusation, similar in its character, in the following terms.

"We are again ready to prove that a direct attempt was made to bribe a member of our Legislative Council, in order to obtain his vote in favor of the New-Jersey Lombard and Protection Company; that this attempt was made by one of its agents, and that for his vote—to carry his point—five hundred dollars was offered!!! The member of the Council alluded to is a most respectable and honorable man. He voted also against that Bank, as he did, like a patriot and friend to his fellow citizens, against all the Banks! We are happy to say, that this member is also above the power and influence of a bribe. He is a man of wealth, strict integrity, consideration and respect. His veracity would not for a moment be doubted in any place where he is known."

It must surely be some powerful inducement of private interest which urges men not merely to offer such ample considerations, but, at the same time, to undermine the purity of our legislative system. Are banking operations such profitable speculations as to bear this high premium? We congratulate the State of New-Jersey and the country, that on these occasions, the tempted displayed more virtue than the tempter.—Nat. Jour.

Improvements in Printing.—The New York Gazette alludes to a great improvement made in the printing press, by Mr. Wardell, of Boston. It is worked by one-horse power.—"The work done on this press is uniform and beautiful, at the same time the sheets are struck off with incredible velocity. The printing for the Tract Society will soon be undertaken with this press, and four forms will be worked at the same time." The Editor of the Gazette purposes to print his paper upon it, as soon as possible. A still more incredible improvement is spoken of in a late European paper; and we think it has been accomplished in one of the Netherland towns. Within two hours after a paper is received from France, it is proposed to copy it out (we understand by a species of lythographic process,) and print it off. This would be a sort of magic in the already wonderful operations of the Art of Printing.—Compiler.

Public Libraries in France.—In Paris the Royal Library has above 700,000 printed volumes, and 70,000 MSS. The library of Monsieur, 150,000 printed volumes, and 5,000 MSS. The Library of St. Genevieve, 110,000 printed volumes, and 2,000 MSS. The Magazine library, 92,000 printed volumes, and 3,000 MSS. The library of the city of Paris, 20,000 volumes. All these are daily open to the public. In the departments there are 25 public libraries, with above 1,700,000 volumes, of which Aix has 62,670, Marseilles 31,500, Toulouse 30,000, Bordeaux 105,000, Tours 30,000, Lyons 106,000, Versailles 40,000, and Amiens 40,000. In the Royal library at Paris there are several uncollated MSS. of the Scriptures.

French Anecdote of English Liberty.—In a certain cul de sac in London, the houses are propped up by beams across the streets; such a convenience was irresistible to the English penchant for hanging, and in the month of November it was no uncommon thing, to see four or five gentlemen suspended side by side; this attracted the notice of the police, who stationed a sentry to put a stop to the practice; he was not long at his post before a gentleman approached, and deliberately threw his rope over the beam, and began to adjust it; the sentinel observed, 'Sir, it is not permitted to hang here.' 'How!' exclaimed the other, 'not permitted to hang! Pray, what has become of English liberty?'

The President was not at the Worcester Cattle Show on Wednesday, as had been anticipated; but there were large numbers of fat oxen and pigs, some large bull-calves, many women, and a number of small children.—Boston Galaxy.

Fenelon observed to a priest who was complaining to him of the dances of the peasantry—"My friend, neither you nor myself need to dance—we can be happy in our own way; but if dancing makes these poor people happy who have so few sources of enjoyment, why should they not dance?"

It was mentioned to the Duke de Roquelaur that two ladies had quarrelled, and loaded each other with abuse. "Have they called each other ugly?" said the Duke. "No, sir." "Very good; then I will undertake to reconcile them."

Deuse.—This is said to be a popular name for the devil—Few, perhaps, who make use of the expression, "Deuse take you," particularly those of the softer sex, who, accompanying it with a gentle pat of the fan, cannot be supposed to mean any ill by it, are aware that it is synonymous to sending you to the Devil. Dusius was the ancient popular name for a kind of demon or devil among the Gauls, so that this saying, the meaning of which so few understand, has at least its antiquity to recommend it. It is mentioned in St. Austin, De Civitates Dei, as a libidinous demon, who was charged with doing a good deal of mischief of so subtile a nature, that as none saw it, it did not seem possible to be prevented.—Later days have done this devil justice, candidly supposing it to have been much traduced by a set of delinquents, who used to father upon invisible and imaginary agents their own and others crimes.

OBSERVER.

FAYETTEVILLE:

THURSDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 27, 1825.

It will be seen that Cotton has experienced a very considerable decline in our market. This was to have been expected in a few weeks; but the accounts of the depressed condition of the European markets, together with the low state of the Cape Fear, which renders it difficult for the merchants to get produce shipped, have accelerated its fall. It is to be hoped that when some of the new crop shall have arrived in Europe, its very excellent quality will again enhance the price, if not to so extravagant a height as it was lately, yet to such a one as will satisfy the planter. The low prices in Europe are no doubt owing, in some measure, to the bad quality of the stock on hand.

We perceive by the northern papers, that snow fell in various parts of the country on Wednesday of last week, the second day of the severely cold weather. It seems to have extended no further south than Raleigh. We had ice here, but no snow. The weather has again become pleasantly warm.

The last Milledgeville papers, (of the 18th inst.) state that the whole of the election returns had not then been received, five counties remaining to be heard from; but that there was no doubt of Troup's re-election, as his majority in the counties heard from was 994, and the vote of the other five counties could not materially affect this result.

The Post Office.—We have just been informed of the following singular circumstance: In April, 1824, a packet was mailed at the Fayetteville Post Office for Newbern, with two letters, one from Charleston and the other from this town, both enclosing money. On the arrival of the mail at Newbern, the packet was missing, and had never been heard of till last week, when it reached its destination in good order, exhibiting no appearanee of ever having been opened.

No News.—We are sorry to present our readers with so little to gratify the appetite, common to all of human kind, for news. We do not recollect a period in which the political world has presented so calm and monotonous an aspect as during the late summer and present fall. With the exception of the Grecian war, (and from this we can hardly ever rely on the accounts,) the European papers seldom furnish an interesting article. On us, who live in a town where there is so little out of which to manufacture news, and have, besides, to attend to the mechanical operations of our establishment, this want of matter is a serious grievance. We read and re-read the papers received by mail; and, finding nothing of primary importance, have to cull from the common, almost uninteresting paragraphs, those which we hope will best please our readers. The sessions of our State and National Legislatures will soon, however, relieve us from the present difficulty, by creating another, of a very different nature, but equally embarrassing; for we shall then often be at a loss to make a selection from more good matter than our columns will contain. There will be too much of a good thing. Our kind readers may feast on the anticipation of that busy period, for we believe it is the only feast they are likely to get from our columns till it arrives.

We should not do justice to our feelings if we failed to acknowledge, with gratitude, the many, and always welcome favors of our advertising friends. Besides the profit we derive from them, (without which the paper could not exist,) they fill a space in our columns which we should often be compelled to occupy with much less interesting matter. The advertising patronage of this paper has been more liberal the present year, we believe, than any paper ever received in Fayetteville; and from this fact we think that a greater degree of prosperity, and an extending commerce, may be inferred; for there are few more sure modes of ascertaining the importance of any town than by a reference to the advertising columns of its newspapers. Our subscription list, too, notwithstanding the barrenness of the paper during the summer, has increased, inspiring a hope of a much more liberal increase when a period of more interest shall arrive.

A neat little pamphlet has been forwarded us from Fayetteville, by the compiler, entitled the "SOLDIER'S INSTRUCTOR," which is an epitome of Scott's "Rules and Regulations for the U. S. Infantry," compiled by Alexander H. McRae, Inspector of the 4th Brigade of N. C. Militia. The Soldier's Instructor is well calculated to supply the place of Scott's large volume, and officers may with it be instructed in a plain and laconic system, and with little labor. It appears to us to be deserving the patronage of the military portion of the community. It is sold at fifty cents a copy.—Cheraw Intelligencer.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

New York, Oct. 20.

By the Mentor, Capt. Wilson, which arrived yesterday, Liverpool dates of the 14th and London to the evening of the 12th ult. are received.

The sales of Cotton at Liverpool on the 12th and 13th amounted to about 6000 bags, at ¼ to ½*d* higher than the sales of the preceding week.

Some of the Journals having endeavored to excite uneasiness in the planters respecting the communications which the new state of St. Domingo might have with our Islands, we are authorised to assure that the foresight of the government has taken away every pretext for alarm on this score: the ships of Hayti will not be received in our colonies, and will not even show themselves there. It is but justice to add, that this regulation has not met with any difficulty in St. Domingo.

Paris Etoile.

London, Sept. 12.

Affairs of Greece.—We (the Sun) have received the Etoile of yesterday, by express. The intelligence from Greece is important. Here will be found an announcement, as a positive fact, of that policy which we, in our paper of Saturday, thought it was probable would be followed by the Greek government, viz: the submission of the islands and continent of Greece to the protectorship of England. The Quotidienne says,

"If we are to believe certain reports which were yesterday prevalent, England has granted her protectorship to the Greeks, and the Anglo-Grecian Government in the Morea and the Archipelago will be similar to that of the Seven Islands."

The Etoile, however, in quoting this intelligence, adds that it is entirely void of truth.

It seems to be now placed beyond a doubt, that the Turks have sustained a severe defeat, or rather defeats, in their several attacks upon Missolonghi.

Extract of a letter from Paris, Sept. 7.

"Our Ministers are under a good deal of embarrassment in regard to the manner of receiving Lafayette, who, according to the accounts brought by the Edward Bonaffe, must soon arrive. The moment our Ministers heard that the General was coming in the Frigate Brandywine, they despatched orders to the authorities at Havre to prevent any kind of meeting, and every mark of honor which might be attempted to be bestowed on him. On the other hand, the most respectable of the merchants and other inhabitants, have resolved to express their esteem for his character by every means in their power.

Postscript.—At a very late hour last evening, a pilot boat brought up the passengers and letter bags, from the Packet ship James Cropper, Capt. Marshall, from Liverpool, having left that port on the 16th ult. to which date we have papers, and from London to Sept. 14th.

By this arrival, we learn verbally, that there was a good demand for Cotton, and Uplands are quoted at 7d. to 10d.

We are sorry to learn that the extensive house of Duncan & Son, of Liverpool, had stopped payment.

The crops throughout England were represented to be most ample, and of the best quality.

There were seven or eight thousand Turkish bodies in the ditches of Missolonghi, and the enemy's camp was, as it were, annihilated. It was believed that the Seraskier would raise the siege.

Stolen,

FROM the Subscribers, on Saturday night the 8th inst. from their Stage stand, at Mr. John Persall's, Drowning creek, Robeson county,

A HANDSOME BAY MARE,

About 15 hands high, 8 or 9 years old, one white hind foot, a star in her forehead, and fore-top trimmed. We think she had, also, collar and saddle marks. She was in fine order, had a switch tail, and was rather cramped in her action, from service.

We will give a reward of $15 for the restoration of the Mare, and will cheerfully pay $50 for the apprehension, with sufficient evidence for the conviction, of the Thief.

About 37 or 38 years of age, 5 feet 5 or 6 inches high, very black and bald; the thumb of his right hand has been cut off by a cotton gin, and the fore-finger injured by the same. I yesterday took him out of the Jail in this place, in which he had been confined as a runaway for about six weeks. He will no doubt endeavor to pass for a free man.

Any person taking up and securing said Negro, will be entitled to the above reward on giving information thereof to Gurdon Deming, Esq. of Fayetteville, or to the Subscriber, living near Walton Court House, in Georgia.

Treasury Department,

OCTOBER 14th, 1825.

PURSUANT to the provisions of an Act of Congress, approved on the 3d of March last, authorizing the President of the United States to borrow, on the credit of the United States, on or before the first day of January next, a sum not exceeding twelve millions of dollars—

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That sealed Proposals will be received at the Treasury, in Washington, until the twenty-first day of November next, inclusive, for lending to the United States the sum of ten millions four hundred thousand dollars.

It is required that the proposals shall state the sum which the parties are willing to give for every hundred dollars of stock bearing an interest, payable quarterly, of four and a half per centum per annum, and reimbursable at the pleasure of the United States, as follows:

One half at any time after the thirty-first day of December, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-eight, and the remainder at any time after the thirty-first day of December, one thousand eight hundred and twenty-nine: PROVIDED, That no reimbursement shall be made except for the whole amount of a certificate, nor until after at least six months public notice of such intended reimbursement. It is also required, that the proposals shall state the place at which the money offered will be paid; which must be at one or other of the places following, viz: At the Bank of the United States in Philadelphia, or its office of Discount and Deposite in New York, Boston, Baltimore, Richmond, or Charleston. It is further required, that, on the acceptance of the proposals, the money be deposited to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States at the above Bank or Offices, as the case may be, in manner following, that is to say: a portion thereof equal to four dollars and a half in each hundred dollars on or before the tenth day of December next, and the residue on or before the thirty-first day of the same month. For the first deposite, a scrip-certificate will be issued by the Cashier of the Bank or Office where it is made, and on the second or final deposite, and surrender of such scrip-certificate, certificates of Stock of the description before mentioned, and bearing interest from the thirty-first day of December next, will be issued by the Commissioner of Loans at the Bank or Office where the payment has been made. The scrip-certificates will be assignable by endorsement and delivery: but on failure to complete the final payment at the time stipulated, the first deposite will be forfeited to the United States, and the scrip-certificate become void.

No proposal for a less sum than ten thousand dollars will be received, nor will any offer be received at less than par.

POETRY.

From the American Traveller.

SYMPATHY'S TEAR.—TO ——

I've seen the tear fall from the fond mother's eye,
When her infant reposed on her breast—
Her bosom would swell, and her heart would beat high,
As she lulled the sweet cherub to rest:
'Twas the tear of affection—'twas brighter by far
Than the lustre that beams from an unclouded star.

I've seen sorrow's tear, at the death of a friend,
On the cheek of the mourner appear—
It fell on the grave, as the green turf did bend
O'er that bosom to friendship so dear;
'Twas like dew, which at night on the earth lightly fell,
Which the first beam of sunshine was sure to dispel.

I've seen the tears fall, both of joy and of grief,
When no power their torrent could stem—
That of grief was dim, for it brought no relief,
That of joy was as bright as a gem:
'Twas like a shower that falls on a bright summer's day,
For those tears from the cheek were but smiles wash'd away.

But no diamond, emitting its brilliance at night,
No star in the clear azure sky,
E'er beam'd to my view with resplendence so bright
As Sympathy's tear from thine eye:
That pure tear so sacred no effort could smother,
For it sprung from a heart that can feel for another.

Fayetteville Academy.

A PRINCIPAL TEACHER is wanted in this institution, well qualified to instruct youths of both sexes in all the branches of an English and Classical Education, and to prepare young men for entrance into the Junior Class of any College in the Union. His moral character, and qualifications for teaching the Greek and Latin Classics, must be undoubted.

It is the design of the Trustees to contract with a Gentleman who will take upon himself the sole management and responsibility of the School, comprehending both departments, Male and Female, supply the same with Teachers of his own choice, and furnish every other necessary; in consideration of which he will be entitled to regulate the price of tuition, and to receive all the emoluments derived from it.

This plan is recommended by the experience, that salary employments do not stimulate to that industry and zeal, which are necessary to the successful progress and reputation of a large School, and has its foundation in that principle of self love, which prompts the exertions most where interest lies, by identifying the interest of the Teacher with the character of the School, thus affording to the public the surest guaranty of having their children faithfully taught.

The Academy lot and buildings are situated in a very pleasant part of the town, on one of the principal streets, and in the neighbourhood of the Episcopal and Presbyterian Churches. The lot is large, and well shaded in the front yard, which communicates with the street over a stile: The main building and wing are three stories high, with a double Portico in front, and is surmounted with a beautiful Belfry—the length and breadth of the main building is about 65 by 45 feet, divided into large apartments, separated by large halls or passages through the centre.

They are sufficiently capacious to accommodate a School of 200 scholars and a family, and the lot is supplied from a Hydrant in the front yard with good and wholesome water.

Few prospects can be more inviting than the present, to a married gentleman with a family, qualified to assist in the School, or capable of taking boarders, (and such a person the Trustees would greatly prefer,) for it combines the advantages of two-fold profits, to be derived from teaching and boarding children from abroad. And when it is known that this Academy is situated in a town with a population of 3600 souls, and that there is no Academy within 60 miles of it, in which the higher branches of learning are taught, the striking advantages of this offer cannot fail to make a strong appeal to the interest and enterprise of the first talents in the country devoted from necessity to the vocations of literature.

The Trustees will lease the buildings, lot, &c. from the first day of January next, (when the present lease expires) for one year; after which they will extend the term to any number of years the contracting parties can agree upon.

Letters, post paid, may be addressed to the subscribers at this place.
